

International Society for Self-Directed Learning
presents:

The 23rd International Self-Directed Learning Symposium

February 4-7, 2009
Cocoa Beach, Florida

Make your plans to attend the International Self-Directed Learning Symposium now! Sessions of interest to a wide variety of audiences will be available. Malcolm Knowles Award winners Huey Long, Lucy and Paul Guglielmino, Ralph Brockett, Roger Hiemstra, and Richard Durr will all be presenting sessions.

The International Self-Directed Learning Symposium provides an international forum for the discussion of important current developments in the study and application of self-directed learning. The program design emphasizes intensive individual participation and group exploration of problems, issues and concepts. Program structure includes large group sessions as well as small group interaction opportunities.

Registration and Hotel

Advanced registration for the 23rd annual ISDL Symposium should be completed by January 4, 2009. See the website (<http://sdlglobal.com>) for information and the registration form. Registration can be completed by mail (check, money order) or via email with online payment (Paypal). Questions? Contact Naomi Boyer (nboyer@lkind.usf.edu).

The symposium hotel is:

The Courtyard by Marriott

3435 N. Atlantic Avenue, Cocoa Beach, FL 32932
(321) 784-4800 or 4812

Be sure to reserve your room by January 4, 2009, to receive the symposium rate of $125.00.

Local Attractions

There's a lot to do in Cocoa Beach! The six-mile beach is near the Kennedy Space Center as well as Port Canaveral, a point of departure for Caribbean cruises. An hour's drive west is Orlando, with Disney World, Sea World, and Universal Studios. Natural wonders such as the Everglades and richly populated lagoons abound- or add on a few days of golfing or fishing! Normal February days are sunny, with a high of 70° F. See www.cocoabeach.com.